In the wake of the senseless murders of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, and countless other Black people, many of us are searching for ways to talk to our children about racism. How can we explain the systemic oppression that has plagued our country for centuries, while also instilling in them hope and the belief that they can make a difference?

In her powerful and moving letter, [Author's name] offers a roadmap for parents and educators who want to raise anti-racist children. Drawing on her own experiences as a Black woman and mother, [Author's name] provides a nuanced and accessible understanding of racism, its history, and its ongoing impact on our society.

With honesty, vulnerability, and unwavering optimism, [Author's name] shares her personal journey of coming to terms with racism and her determination to create a more just and equitable world for her children. She challenges us to confront our own biases, to listen to the voices of those who have been marginalized, and to work together to dismantle the systems that perpetuate racism.

Everyone Versus Racism is not just a book; it is a call to action. It is a reminder that we all have a role to play in creating a more inclusive society, and that we must never give up the fight for equality and justice.
