The Problem with Our Current Food System

Our current food system is based on a number of unsustainable practices, including:

- The use of fossil fuels to produce and transport food
- The use of synthetic fertilizers and pesticides
- The concentration of food production in a few large corporations
- The long distances that food travels from farm to table

These practices are damaging our environment, our health, and our economy. They are also making it increasingly difficult to feed our growing population.

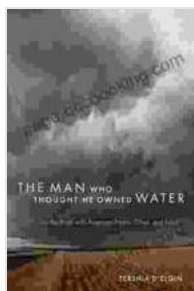

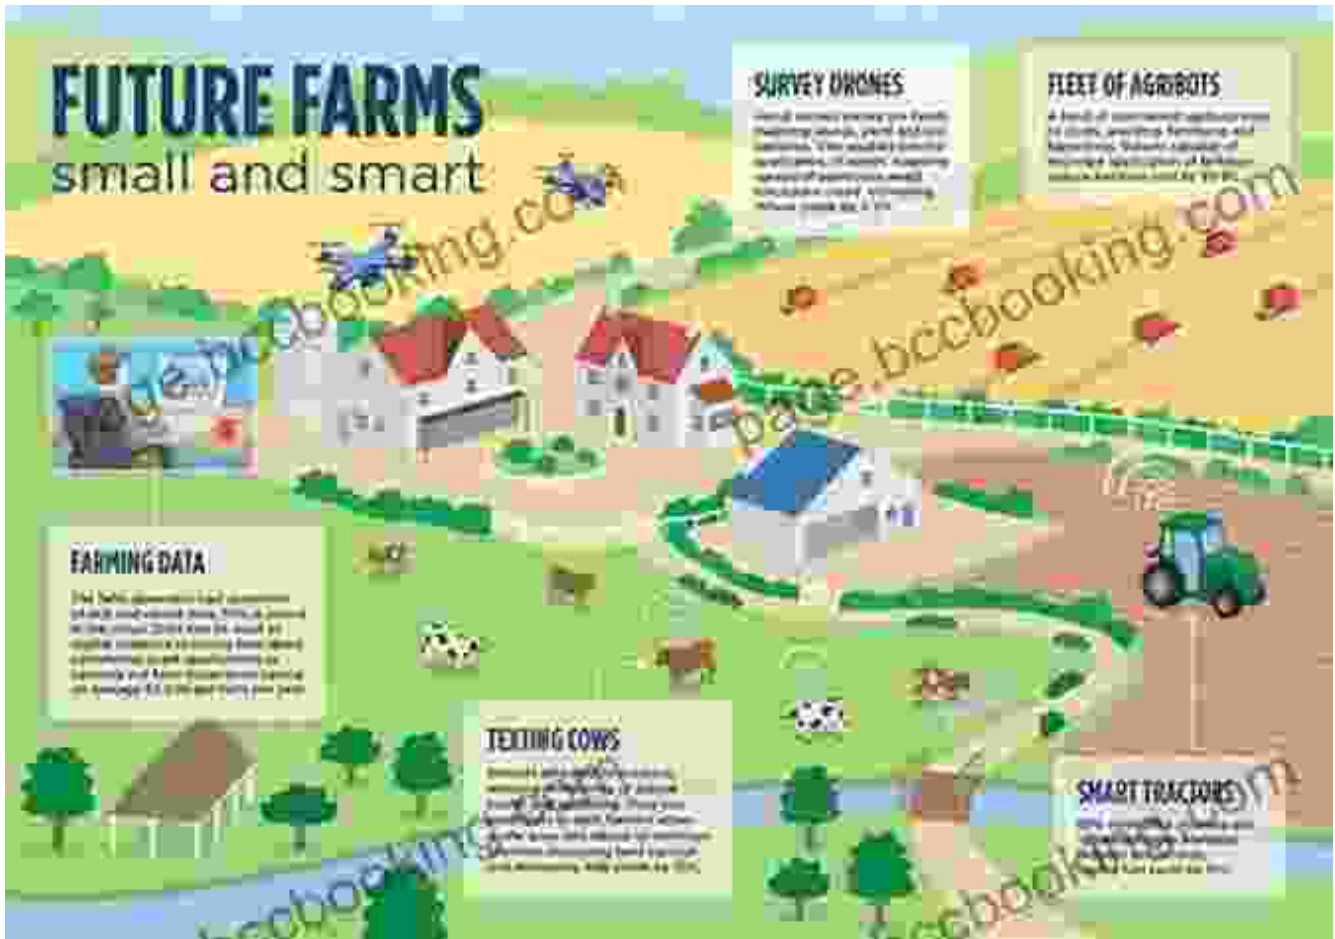

The Future of Food

Ikerd argues that we need to make radical changes to our food system in Free Download to create a sustainable future. These changes include:

- Reducing our reliance on fossil fuels
- Adopting more sustainable farming practices
- Supporting local and regional food systems
- Eating less meat and more plant-based foods

These changes will not be easy, but they are necessary. If we do not make these changes, we will face a future in which food is scarce, expensive, and unhealthy.

On the Brink is a wake-up call for anyone who cares about the future of food. Ikerd's book provides a clear and concise roadmap for creating a more sustainable and equitable food system. It is a must-read for anyone who wants to be part of the solution.
