In this captivating book, we delve into the life and work of Sister Dorothy Stang. From her early days as a missionary in Brazil to her daring activism against illegal logging and land grabbing, we witness the depth of her faith and the indomitable spirit that drove her mission.

A Journey to the Heart of the Our Book Library

In 1966, at the age of 25, Dorothy Stang embarked on a life-changing journey to the Our Book Library rainforest. As a member of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur, she was drawn to the plight of the region's indigenous communities, who faced poverty, deforestation, and exploitation.

Dorothy quickly immersed herself in the local culture, learning indigenous languages and customs. She established schools and health clinics, providing education and healthcare to communities that had been marginalized for centuries.

A Vocal Advocate for Environmental Justice

Sister Dorothy Stang fearlessly confronts illegal loggers, putting her life on the line to protect the rainforest.

As deforestation and illegal logging escalated in the Our Book Library, Dorothy became an outspoken advocate for environmental justice. She understood the vital role that the rainforest played in regulating the Earth's climate and providing livelihoods for indigenous communities.

Dorothy organized protests, lobbied politicians, and raised awareness about the devastating impact of deforestation. Her activism caught the attention of powerful interests, who saw her as a threat to their profits.

A Martyr for Indigenous Rights

Dorothy's work extended beyond environmental protection. She became a fierce defender of indigenous rights, advocating for their land rights, cultural preservation, and economic empowerment.

Her tireless advocacy made her a target for those who sought to exploit the Our Book Library rainforest and its indigenous inhabitants. On February 12, 2005, Sister Dorothy Stang was brutally murdered by gunmen linked to illegal logging and land grabbing.

Dorothy's death shocked the world and brought international attention to the plight of the Our Book Library rainforest and its indigenous communities. Her martyrdom became a symbol of the ongoing struggle for environmental justice and indigenous rights.

A Legacy of Hope and Inspiration

A memorial stands in the Our Book Library rainforest, honoring the life and sacrifice of Sister Dorothy Stang.

Sister Dorothy Stang's legacy lives on through the countless lives she touched and the organizations she founded. Schools, clinics, and environmental protection initiatives continue to carry her name and her unwavering spirit.

Her story inspires people around the world to take action for the environment, human rights, and social justice. Sister Dorothy Stang's life and work remind us that even the smallest of voices can make a profound difference when we dare to stand up for what is right.
